

Visitor Identification Card (VIC)

Privacy Notice

Important Information

Please read this document carefully. You will be required to acknowledge that you have read and understood the information before submitting your application.

What does Perth Airport do with your personal information?

Information you provide on the Visitor Identification Card (VIC) application includes personal information, the collection, use and disclosure of which is governed by the Privacy Act 1988 (Commonwealth).

Perth Airport uses this information internally for its functions under the Aviation Transport Security Act 2004 and Aviation Transport Security Regulations 2005.

For example, Perth Airport will use this information to process VIC applications, monitor compliance with the 28-day rule, and maintain a register of every VIC issued.

In addition, Perth Airport may use personal information for the operation and management of Perth Airport, including to assess, investigate or respond to any actual or potential operational, safety or security matters. Perth Airport may disclose this information to law enforcement agencies, government departments and agencies, advisers, and your employer.

Perth Airport may also disclose this information to third parties such as:

- Authorised Agents (as approved in our Transport Security Program) who issue VICs
- Upon request to Transport Security Inspectors or
- In compliance with mandatory legal requirements from the Airport Transport Safety Bureau (ATSB) or
- In response to a court order

By submitting this request, applicants consent to Perth Airport collecting, using, and disclosing their personal information as detailed above. If applicants refuse to provide their personal information, Perth Airport cannot process a VIC application.

Except where precluded by the Privacy Act 1988, applicants can access the personal data held by Perth Airport on (08) 9478 8888. Further information regarding Perth Airport's Privacy Statement is available via the website (www.perthairport.com.au) or upon request to Perth Airport.